action, and catastrophe. Freytag extends the five parts with three moments or crises: the exciting force, the tragic force, and the force of the final suspense.

Dramatic structure -
Wikipedia

The rising action occurs when the main problem or conflict is addressed with a form of action. The rising action always leads up to the climax.

During the rising action, the protagonist often encounters some sort of crisis that creates tension. For example, in "The Maze Runner" by James Dashner, the rising action occurs when Thomas -- the exposition, rising

action, climax, falling action, and resolution.

Exposition is the early
section of the story,
giving audiences
information about the status quo when we first join the characters and plot.

This section will often contain backstory or

superhero movies)
doesn't end as soon
as the force of evil
has been thwarted.
